

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

REGISTERING FOR CLASSES

This section provides an overview of UW-Platteville registration policies. More details and specific dates for registration and fee payment are available. Specific courses offered each term are available in the online class offerings. Students not on campus may view the list of upcoming course offerings using Guest Access (<https://www.uwplatt.edu/departments/registrars> (<https://www.uwplatt.edu/departments/registrars>)).

OTHER UNIVERSITY POLICIES

Anyone taking graduate courses will be charged graduate fees for those courses. Anyone taking undergraduate courses will be charged undergraduate fees for those courses. Graduate classes do not count toward the undergraduate plateau (12-18 credits), and undergraduate classes do not count toward the graduate plateau (9-12 credits).

Students must follow the rules, regulations and academic requirements of both the university and the college in which they are enrolled as described in the catalog of initial enrollment. At a later time, however, students may elect to follow the rules, regulations and academic requirements specified in subsequent catalogs. If progress toward a degree is interrupted by withdrawing from the term/semester and students re-enroll at a later date, they must abide by the catalog in effect at the time they re-enroll.
