The Patricia A. Doyle Center for Gender and Sexuality serves as UW-Platteville's central resource for programming, events, and support around the topic(s) of gender and sexuality. The Doyle Center is committed to creating a safe and welcoming environment for people of all identities. We strive that all UW-Platteville community members receive equal opportunities and are empowered to utilize their talents and efforts to their fullest extent. We offer different events, opportunities, and a community center focus for students, faculty, and staff on campus. We also support Alliance, the student organization on campus that offers a safe and welcoming space for everyone that wants to learn about and support the LGBTQ+ community.
