

SPEECH COMMUNICATION (SPEECH)

For up-to-date information on when online courses from the Distance Campus are typically offered, see <https://www.uwplatt.edu/departments/professional-program-support/course-offerings> (<https://www.uwplatt.edu/departments/professional-program-support/course-offerings/>).

SPEECH 1010 Oral Communication for Professionals 2 Credits

This course is designed to meet the specific oral communication needs of students in all majors. Students will learn the fundamental theories and concepts of public communication and practice researching topics, organizing material, and presenting audience-centered content that correlates with the individual's course of study.

Components: Class

GE: Speech

SPEECH 1060 Speech Communication for Professionals 3 Credits

This course is designed to meet the specific oral communication needs of students in all majors. Students will learn the fundamental theories and concepts of public communication, interpersonal communication, communication and communication practice researching topics, organizing material, and leadership in small groups. presenting audience-centered content that correlates with the individual's course of study. Students will learn more about and practice the interactive processes involved in human communication for a variety of contexts.

Components: Class

GE: Speech

SPEECH 2010 Speech Communication for Teachers 3 Credits

This course focuses on all facets of speech communication vital to teachers in the classroom. Student activities include simulated instructional presentations.

Components: Class

GE: Speech

SPEECH 2250 Communication & Leadership in Small Groups 3 Credits

Students study contemporary theories and concepts surrounding communication in small groups. Students lead, participate in, and observe small group activities such as project planning, decision making, and task completion.

Components: Class

GE: Speech

SPEECH 2500 Topics in Speech 1-3 Credits

In depth study of topics of interest in speech communication. The topic to be studied will be identified in the course title.

Components: Class

SPEECH 3250 Interpersonal Communication 3 Credits

The study of human communication and relationships. Contemporary theories and basic concepts concerning interpersonal communication are covered with an emphasis on dyadic communication. NOTE: This course is approved to satisfy either the standards for Speech OR the standards for Social Sciences in General Education, but not both.

Components: Class

GE: Social Sciences, Speech

SPEECH 3990 Teaching Methods in Speech Communication 3 Credits

Students learn curriculum, test and measurement, setting course objectives, and setting course structure for drama, speech, debate, and other speech-related courses and activities.

Components: Class